

FSH Awards Criteria's

Distinguished Service Award "Histotechnologist of the Year"

Criteria: Nominee and Nominator must be an FSH member in good standing at least one year prior to nomination.

This Award is reserved for those who have been dedicated to the advancement of Histotechnology as a profession, and have contributed to the field of histology. If you know someone who has made a difference, and would like that person to be recognized, please write a brief note to the committee with the name and reason you feel this person should be nominated. If you know someone who has gone that extra mile, and demonstrated outstanding accomplishments in the field, please show your appreciation for them and take this time to let us know!

Career Achievement Award

Criteria: Nominee and Nominator must be an FSH member in good standing at least one year prior to nomination.

This Award is to recognize an individual who has made a significant contribution to the Florida society for Histotechnology through their dedication and service to the profession of Histology. This person is one who has outstanding leadership, qualities, inspires others to pursue their love of our field, and who continually makes technical and academic progress within their place of employment.

We are sure that if everyone took just a few minutes to think about a fellow co-worker, who has offered qualities, as stated above, that this award will be presented to an every deserving and honored recipient.

Pathologist of the Year Award

Criteria: The Nominator must be an FSH member in good standing at least one year prior to nomination.

This Award is to recognize a pathologist who has made a significant contribution to the Florida society for Histotechnology through their support of the profession of histology. This person is one who has been an outstanding mentor to the histotechnologist(s) in his or her laboratory. This person treats all hospital personnel with respect and always has the interest of the patient in mind.

We are sure that all of you out there work with a pathologist who should be honored with this award. Please take a few minutes to send us his or her name for consideration.

“Bobbie Spillan Award”

Criteria: The nominator or nominee DOES NOT have to be an FSH member in good standing.

This Award will be given to a deserving Histotechnologist, who has achieved excellence in the field of Histotechnology and supports the continuing education in Histotechnology.

Vendors Appreciation Award

Criteria: The nominator or nominee DOES NOT have to be an FSH member in good standing.

This Award will be given to a sales representative, manager, owner or technical representatives that has supported the Florida Society for Histotechnology and has promoted and participated in the field of Histotechnology.